THE SOCIETY HISTORY The plans for the celebration of the Silver Jubilee of the Society last August included the compilation of an official history of the first twenty-five years of its existence. At that time, however, there were difficulties in the way of having it published as a special brochure, and it was decided that it should appear in the columns of the American Philatelist. We are glad to present the first installment on another page and shall complete the story in the remaining two issues.

The History has been written by one who is perhaps the best qualified for the task. Mr. William C. Stone is a Charter Member, has been a most faithful convention attendant, having missed very few, and has been not only active as a member but as an officer as well, having been honored by the Society with the Presidency and other offices. He has had practically all the materials at hand for his task, and his keen interest and participation in the affairs of the Society from the start have enabled him to properly sift this material and give us a condensed and yet accurate story of the Society's life.

The present installment, covering the early years of the former "Association," will be read with much interest by many of the newer members who know very little of the "old days," and will doubtless be even more entertaining to the "old timers" whose memories it will quicken. That the years have not been uneventful will be readily apparent on perusal of the history itself.

KING GEORGE STAMPS Where, oh where, are the King George issues? Here it is almost two years since the accession of King Edward's successor, and even the Mother Country has been able to produce but two stamps with the effigy of her new sovereign, and those have been the target for a vast amount of dissatisfaction. Queen Victoria died in January, 1901, and Great Britain issued her first four King Edward stamps on January 1, 1902, they being soon followed by the remainder of the set. King Edward died in May, 1910, and the two lone values of the King George series were issued at the Coronation, June 22, 1911. Since then all has been quiet save the criticism of the public.

Outside the United Kingdom we find the Colonies equally slow, though this is perhaps not so surprising, as the same thing occurred after King Edward's accession and is due to many local, financial, and other causes. The actual Georgian issues are readily summed up, even after the two years' lapse of time, as:—Newfoundland 15c. in the "Guy" set, issued September, 1910; the Union of South Africa commemorative 2½d., issued November 4, 1910; the Rhodesia double portrait series of November 11, 1910; the Newfoundland 2 cent of the Coronation issue, June 19, 1911; the India 1, 2 and 3 annas issued at the Durbar in December, 1911; and the Canadian set which opened the year 1912. This is a total of thirty-one stamps, with Rhodesia responsible for eighteen of them.

Whispers of the new colonials are being heard, however, and it may not be long ere we are permitted to criticise these in their turn. It seems that the general design of the new "universal" type of stamps for the Crown Colonies has been approved for some time. The so-called "key-plate" is of a new pattern, but having the crown above the head as in the King Edward stamps, and the head itself being likewise in profile. The head has been modeled by Mr. Bertram Mackennal, A. R. A., who designed the two new British stamps, (but who was not responsible for the King's portrait thereon, that being from a photograph), and is not wholly dissimilar to the profile of King Edward. The head upon the new Indian stamps was also modelled by the same artist, but has the addition of the Imperial Crown and Mantle of State. It gives a most pleasing effect, and we trust the unadorned profile for the new Colonial type will work out as happily.

THE REPUBLIC OF CHINA

It seems but yesterday that we chronicled the advent of the Portugese Republic, the old order passing quickly away with but slight disturbance, and the new regime taking control with determined if somewhat shaky hands. But even this event, startling as it was, left us entirely unprepared for the results of the rebellion against the Manchu Dynasty, which had been fomenting in the Celestial Empire for some years past. Called in by the Chinese to help suppress rebellion in the North, the warlike Manchus, having accomplished this, did not stop in their progress until they had driven the Ming Dynasty from the throne of the Middle Kingdom, in 1644, and fastened themselves like leeches upon the Empire. They imposed the wearing of the queue as a badge of "loyalty" and treated as a traitor any one who failed to wear it.

For more than two centuries and a half they have drained the resources and life-blood of the patient Chinese, who are naturally a most peaceable people. But even the worm will turn. Fettered by age-long conservatism and hidebound tradition, it took long for the leaven to work and bring the Sons of Han to the point of active and well organized resistance to the corrupt and effete dynasty at Peking. To the better class of Chinese, so many of whom have travelled and been educated in Europe and America within the last few decades, belongs the credit of perceiving the light and uniting to awaken the slumbering monster to action. Under the guidance of that great reformer, Dr. Sun Yat Sen, who may yet prove the George Washington of China (strange as that phrase may sound!), the forces of regeneration have been quietly at work among these progressives for years past. A premature and abortive attempt was made through the reformers' influence in 1898 by the Emperor Kuang Hsu to institute Western methods and ideas, the result being the coup d 'etat of the old Empress Dowager and the young Emperor's virtual abdication. But even she was finally led to see the strength of the new forces that were operating and the promise of a Constitution and Parliament were the result. Her death occurred in 1908 before the reforms were carried out, and her sucessor, the child Emperor Hsuang Tung, represented by the Regent, Prince Chun, in no way fulfilled the promises made until May, 1911, when an edict abolished the old Grand Council and substituted a constitutional Assembly and Cabinet.

But the concessions came too late. The Southern Provinces had broken into open rebellion and declared against the continuation of Manchu rule. After considerable fighting the revolutionists proclaimed a Republic at Nanking, the former capital, last December, and on the 29th of that month Dr. Sun accepted the provisional presidency. Negotiations between the republicans and imperialists followed until the Manchu court became convinced that China proper was determined for the Republic and the Emperor wisely abdicated on February 12th. Mutual concessions between the republicans and imperialists finally resulted in the selection of Yuan Shi Kai, the former imperial Premier, to be President of the new Chinese Republic until the National Assembly properly elects a President as the new constitution provides. President Yuan took the oath of office on March 10th, and we must consider that that wonder of wonders, the Republic of China, is an accomplished fact. As it has already been phrased, it is "the most remarkable event since the fall of the Roman Empire."

One more remarkable event is brought home to us stamp collectors—no advantage has been taken of these disturbances and changes so far to surcharge the Imperial stamps or put forth any provisional issues. But the actual establishment of the new government will certainly bring forth some tangible result before long. It is already rumored that the current set has been surcharged "Provisional Neutrality," but this would seem to be but a makeshift designation at best, and it has not yet been confirmed. We shall look for at least some equivalent of the new order of government—the "Republic of China," however the Chinese themselves may see fit to designate it.

The London Stamp Exhibition, 1912.

The Great Opportunity for American Exhibitors.

By FRED. J. MELVILLE.

The recent successes of American philatelists at Exhibitions in Vienna, Turin and Australia, have opened the way for keenr competition by Americans at all future International Exhibitions, and it is confidently expected that the United States will establish new records in the number of medals and high awards they will secure at the London Exhibition, which is to be held under the auspices of the Junior Philatelic Society in October next.

The preparations for this great Exhibition are now well under way, and from the advance announcements of the plans it appears that the Juniors are endeavoring to establish a new record as regards their own Exhibitions, which have been so highly successful in the past. They have secured the largest and finest Exhibition Hall of its kind in London, one which an eminent British trade journal describes as the finest Exhibition Hall in the three kingdoms. It is the Royal Horticultural Hall, situated right in the heart of Westminster, beneath the shadow of Big Ben. In the large main hall, where the bulk of the exhibits will be shown, there is an area of 13,000 square feet, and on the first floor there are two similar halls, and a suite of rooms, all of which have been acquired by the Exhibition Executive.

A complete novelty will be the devoting of one of the spacious annexes of the main hall, on the ground floor, to an exhibition of working machinery, which will be engaged in the production of postage stamps throughout the entire period the Exhibition is open.

Another entire novelty at any International Philatelic Exhibition will be directed towards the securing of the comfort of those whose business and interests it is to spend much time at the Exhibition. One of the annexes will be utilized as a commodious and luxurious drawing room, where one can meet one's philatelic friends and converse in comfort, and it is the desire of the executive to give visitors all the conveniences within the Exhibition of a completely and luxuriously furnished club. The Exhibition will be opened on Monday, October 14th, remaining open the complete week, until night on Saturday the 19th, and several days have been allowed for the setting up of the Exhibition during the week preceding the show.

It will thus be seen that the preparations for the great London Exhibition of the present year are on a scale well worthy of the enterprising Junior Philatelic Society, and have been plannd with a view to securing ample accommodation for an attendance over 60 per cent in excess of that of the last Exhibition held by this Society, and it is confidently anticipated that 50,000 people will visit the Exhibition during the week, thus bringing together the largest concourse of persons interested in Philately ever assembled under one roof.

The prospectus of the Exhibition is expected to be ready in February, and I am glad to be able to extend this early invitation to the numerous friends and supporters of the Society in the United States, to commence putting their collections in order with a view to showing them in London in October. I also offer the most cordial welcome to any philatelist from the United States who will plan his vacation so that he can visit London in that month. Each visitor from the United States will have an exceptional opportunity of seeing all the great collections centered in one place and on a scale which has not been possible hitherto.

The Junior Philatelic Society has much to congratulate itself upon, in the interest and support extended to it by collectors in the United States, and I and my colleagues are deeply sensible of the honor and confidence which we have gained amongst the philatelists of the great Republic, and look forward with confident anticipation to receiving many exhibits and welcoming many visitors from the United States in October next.

I shall be very glad to hear from any collector desirous of showing his collection or of visiting the Exhibition, as early as possible, and have already opened a register for the names and addresses of all those who desire to be furnished with prospectuses, tickets, and all information connected with the Exhibition, as it is printed and issued.

The address of the Hon. Secretary of the Exhibition is and I shall be pleased to answer inquiries personally, so far as is possible, if addressed to me.

A HISTORY

OF THE

American Philatelic Association

NOW THE

American Philatelic Society

1886-1911

Prepared by WILLIAM CARLOS STONE,

At the request of the Quarter Century Celebration Committee.

INTRODUCTION.

To write the official history of the first quarter century of the American Philatelic Association (now Society) is an honor which I highly appreciate. Having been a member from the first I have always felt a great interest in its progress. But to write the history of those years as they should be written, is a task for which the time allowed me is far too short. Nevertheless I have done what I could in the time permitted, and I desire to express my hopes that it may serve to remind the members of what our Society has passed through, and to act as a lighthouse for safeguarding our future course.

My sources of information have been legion, and the task of digesting the information laborious. First, there were the official journals and publications, then the historical notes by Davis, Ireland, Aldrich, Quackenbush and others. Then the contemporary publications of the day for the past twenty-five years. Fortunate it was that my library is so well supplied! To Ernest R. Aldrich I am greatly indebted for the compilation of the lists of Charter Members, Officers, and Committees, which appear in the appendix. This was a very difficult matter to do correctly, as the official records during the early years are very imperfect and vague in spots, and it may be that slight errors have crept in.

But my task is done at last and I will leave it for my readers to judge of its excellence for themselves.

WILLIAM CARLOS STONE,

Charter Member No. 67. Stockholder No. 49.

THE FIRST DECADE

1886—1896.

The question of who first suggested a national organization of the stamp collectors and dealers of this country will probably never be settled, but to Schuyler B. Bradt, of Chicago, belongs the credit for starting the actual formation of the present body. In the Philatelic Journal of America for April, 1886, Mr. Bradt in a two page article vigorously urged the formation of a national body and urged the various local societies and the philatelic press to agitate the subject. This was done to such good effect that a committee on organization was appointed consisting of representatives of the leading local societies. On August 28, 1886, the committee sent out a circular to those persons who had signified their desire of joining the proposed society, calling a meeting for organization in New York City on September 13th. A printed list of some 350 prospective members was sent out, together with lists of nominations for officers made by various local societies. The sum of 25 cents to cover expenses of organizatin was required to be sent with ballots, and proxy representation was permitted. The Committee on Organization alluded to above was composed as follows:—

Theo. F. Cuno, Brooklyn, N. Y., Chairman.
Schuyler B. Bradt, Chicago, Ill.
W. G. Whilden, Atlanta, Ga.
Geo. Henderson, Philadelphia, Pa.
Charles H. Mekeel, St. Louis, Mo.

The Committee on Organization met at the Metropolitan Assembly Rooms in New York on the afternoon of September 13, 1886, with four members in attendance, Mr. Whilden, of Atlanta, being the only absentee. Rules for the government of the election were adopted and the count of the ballots was then proceeded with. There was a total number of 219 ballots cast and the amount of money received with the same was $54.75. The votes were widely distributed, but the following persons each received a large plurality and were declared elected:—

President, John K. Tiffany of St. Louis.
Secretary, S. B. Bradt of Chicago.
Treasurer, L. W. Durbin of Philadelphia.
International Secretary, Joseph Rechert of Hoboken, N. J.

In the evening the convention was called together, and with Theo. F. Cuno as presiding officer and C. H. Mekeel as secretary proceeded to consider a constitution and by-laws prepared by the Organization Committee. Considerable discussion prevailed over the name, and the proposition of the Committee, "Philatelical Society of America," was turned down in favor of "American Philatelic Association." Adjournment to the next day followed and upon the completion of the constitution the new association was called to order September 14, 1886 at 12:20 p. m. by Vice-President elect R. R. Bogert, President elect Tiffany not being present. The constitution as drawn up by the organizing convention was presented and adopted and the result of the election for officers announced. Some routine business was transacted and after voting to hold the next convention in Chicago the association adjourned.

The annual dues were fixed at $2.00 with an entrance fee of 25 cents. Officers were elected for a term of two years but conventions were to be held annually.

On the 15th of October Secretary Bradt sent out a notice stating that the annual dues were payable and that they should be paid within thirty days. "Official Circulars" were issued by the Secretary in November and December containing mainly official reports, etc., and in the latter number it is stated that only 116 members had paid up and were in good standing. The various appointive officers of the association were announced in October and lists of such officials will be found in the appendix to this history.

In January, 1887, the first number of the American Philatelist appeared. It was a 7x10 paper containing 8 pages and was edited by W. R. Fraser of Altoona, Pa. Five numbers only were issued, when in response to almost universal complaints from the members the Official Board submitted the question of its abolishment to a mail vote, and it was carried. Two more "Official Circulars" were resorted to as a means of communication with the members, and notwithstanding a plurality of the members had expressed their preference for the Philatelic Journal of America as the official journal, the Official Board voted in favor of the Western Philatelist of Chicago. Circular letters from both the President and Secretary were sent to members explaining their part in the action and the air was full of war-like talk. As Henry L. Calman expressed it at the banquet in Chicago, "we all came here with our tomahawks in our belts and our knives sharpened." Such was the condition of affairs when the delegates assembled in Chicago to celebrate the first birthday of the Association.

The Convention was called to order Monday, August 8, 1887, in the parlors of the Tremont House by the President, John K. Tiffany. There were 29 members present representing Illinois, New York, Missouri, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Massachusetts, New Jersey and Indiana. There were 161 proxies approved, making the total representation 190 out of a total membership of 276 of whom 252 were voters. This left a very narrow margin for amending the constitution as it was necessary to have a two-thirds vote of the membership of the association in favor. Consequently it was almost necessary to have unanimous consent to make any changes, as any one of four proxy holders could have held up any action by refusing to favor it. Many heart to heart talks were held, and the result was that the utmost harmony prevailed and divisions were taken on but few subjects. It was voted to re-establish the American Philatelist with a Literary Board of three members in charge. Resolutions indorsing James Chalmers as the inventor of the adhesive stamp were adopted, the entrance fee was abolished, a proviso adopted by which no two members of the Official Board could be elected from the same state, and that a majority of the Board must be collectors and not professional dealers. It was voted to hold the next convention in Boston. A banquet was tendered the members by the Chicago Society where oratory and other things abounded. A group photograph of those in attendance was taken, and to the best of my knowledge this has never been published. Of the members in attendance at this convention but four still remain on our rolls, P. M. Wolsieffer, H. B. Seagrave, E. B. Sterling and W. C. Stone.

Three days after the adjournment of the convention L. W. Durbin, our Treasurer, died at his home in Philadelphia. A special election resulted in the choice of H. B. Seagrave to fill the vacancy.

The first number of the new American Philatelist appeared October 10, 1887, and was composed of 14 pages of reading matter, two of advertisements and a cover also devoted to advertising matter. It ranked high among the papers of its time and we old timers look forward to the date when it will once more be our official journal. To Robert C. H. Brock, the chairman of the first Literary Board, the association owes a special debt of gratitude. Not once, nor twice, but many and many times did Mr. Brock put his hand in his own pocket that the association might have a journal which should be a credit to it. The magazine was always a heavy expense to the association, and it was mainly due to the financial aid given by Mr. Brock which enabled the Board to make the creditable showing that they did.

The official button authorized by the association was put on sale during the summer but found few purchasers, and I know of but few in existence at the present date. It consisted of a bronze button in the shape of an upright rectangle, 16x19mm., bearing the well known emblem of Philatelia from our seal with the letters A. P. A. in the upper right hand corner. The frame gave the effect of perforations. As the action of the Board adopting this design as the official badge has never been rescinded, does it not still remain our badge? An emblem was adopted at Detroit in 1910 but it was distinctly stated that it was not an official badge.

The Third Convention met in Boston August 13, 1888, and was called to order in Elks' Hall by the President. This being election year the result of the ballot showed that W. C. Van Derlip of Boston had been elected Vice-President and S. B. Bradford of Ottawa, Ill., Secretary, with the remainder of the Board unchanged.

Over 300 new members were reported to have been admitted during the year, making our net membrship 544. The attendance was 65 with a proxy representation of 304. Only minor changes were made in the By-Laws, one of the most important being the substitution of a plurality in place of an absolute majority of the members for election to office. This had caused much trouble in the past.

The leading feature of the Convention was the exhibition of stamps held in Elks' Hall during the session. Many rarities were in evidence such as the Brattleboro, Hawaiian missionaries. early Buenos Ayres, Canada 12 pence, etc., together with Mr. Van Derlip's unexcelled collection of essays for U. S. envelopes and postal cards.

A salary of $150 per year was voted the Secretary and the same sum was voted the retiring Secretary. It was voted to hold the next convention in Saint Louis.

In May, 1889, Treasurer Seagrave resigned and a special election was held resulting in the choice of Charles Gregory of New York.

The Fourth Annual Convention was called to order in Odd Fellows' Hall, Saint Louis, on October 7, 1889. The attendance was rather small, only about thirty members being present, nearly one half being from Saint Louis. No regular list of the attendants at the early conventions was published with the proceedings as at present, and it has been necessary to consult many of the contemporary papers to compile them with any degree of accuracy. Proxies to the number of 439 were approved. President Tiffany entertained the delegates at his home where they had the pleasure of inspecting his collection and library. The report of the Secretary gave the membership as 666—243 new members having been admitted during the year while 51 had resigned, 99 been dropped, 1 expelled and 2 had died. The annual dues were raised to $2.50 and the age restriction was removed. Second Vice-Presidents were authorized to be appointed wherever there are 25 local members. A committee of three was appointed to look into the matter of incorporation and a committee of five to take charge of an exhibit of stamps at the World's Fair in Chicago. Resolutions deprecating the issue of stamps under the so called "Seebeck" contracts were also adopted. The resignation of the Secretary was requested by a resolution adopted by the convention and at a subsequent special election Millard F. Walton of Philadelphia was elected. The Convention adjourned after voting to meet in New York City in 1890.

This next Convention was a stormy one. It was held at the Lincoln Club in New York City and was called to order August 4, 1890, by President Tiffany. During the sessions there were present about 65 members with a proxy vote of 390. The Constitution not permitting two officers to be elected from the same state, the result of the election was purposely held back until sufficint proxies had been secured by means of special delivery letters and telegrams to enable the faction backing C. B. Corwin of New York to strike out that clause and thereby permit his election as Vice-President. In order to do this it was necessary to prolong the Convention to four days. The other officers remained unchanged. It was also voted to suspend the American Philatelist and make the Metropolitan Philatelist the official journal. The Chalmers resolutions adopted at Chicago were rescinded and a declaration of neutrality passed. The Anti-Surcharge Association was indorsed and New York City again selected as the convention seat. The bond of the Exchange Superintendent was increased from $500 to $5000 and the name of that officer was changed to Superintendent of Sales. A banquet was given the visiting delegates by the metropolitan philatelists at the Manhattan Beach Hotel, which was greatly enjoyed. Secretary Walton reported a membership of 684—159 new members and 18 reinstatements having been added during the yar. One member had died, 141 were suspended for non-payment of dues and 14 resigned.

The vote to abolish the American Philatelist produced a strong protest on the part of the membership at large, and on petition to the Official Board of the requisite number of members a mail vote on the question was ordered resulting in the overwhelming vote of 378 to 38 in favor of the re-establishment of that journal, which resumed publication in January, 1891. The place of publication was transferred to Chicago. In order to secure second class rates the annual dues were reduced to $2.00 with a charge of 50 cents for the magazine.

The Convention of 1891 was called to order by the President in the Times Building in New York City on August 17, with a total attendance of 49 with a proxy vote of 228, the element which controlled the last convention being almost unrepresented, so strong was the feeling against their actions. The membership was reported to be 568, a considerable falling off from the number reported last year. It was voted not to allow any member to hold more than 50 proxies, to elect officers annually, to incorporate under the laws of West Virginia and to elect the Trustees instead of having them appointed. They were also required to reside within thirty miles of a common center. The proviso requiring the Official Board to be chosen from different states was restored to the constitution. It was voted to hold the next convention at Niagara Falls.

In January 1892 President Tiffany announced to the members that a charter had been received from the State of West Virginia, and that a meeting of the incorporators would be held January 20 to complete the organization. This was done and the old officers elected to serve until the regular election in August with the exception of the Vice-President, W. C. Van Derlip of Boston being substituted for C. B. Corwin.

INCORPORATION.

It was provided that members of the association under the unincorporated organization could become members of the corporation by purchasing from the Secretary a share of the capital stock for the sum of $1.00, the same being in lieu of an entrance fee. As the time between the incorporation and the Convention was somewhat short, when the Convention met at Niagara Falls in August 1892 the total membership was only 220. There was an attendance of 23 and a proxy representation of 158 with some 10 visitors. The report of the Secretary showed that the old organization numbered 532 members, of which 220 had subscribed for stock in the new corporation. It was voted to permit members of the old association to becme members of the new under the above provisions until October 1, 1892, and that after that date all must make formal application as new members. It was also voted to renumber the membership, dropping out all names of those who had left and moving up the names in regular order. This however does not apply to the numbers on the stock certificates, which were issued by the Secretary strictly in the order in which they sent in their dollar without regard for their former numbers.

The result of the election was the choice of the following officers for the first term of the new organization:—

President, John K. Tiffany of St. Louis.

Vice-President, Willard C. Van Derlip of Boston.

Secretary, Millard F. Walton of Philadelphia.

Treasurer, N. W. Chandler of Collinsville, Ill.

International Secretary, Joseph Rechert of Hoboken, N. J.

Trustees, George H. Watson, Henry Clotz, G. B. Calman.

A banquet was held at the International Hotel where the Convention held its sessions and a group photograph was taken in the park. Chicago was awarded the convention for 1893.

An offer from the C. H. Mekeel Stamp & Publishing Company relative to the publishing of the American Philatelist was accepted.

The Eighth Convention was called to order in Vincennes Hall, Chicago, August 15, 1893. The total attendance was 45 members with a proxy representation of 216. The membership was reported to be over 500 (actually 490), no statistical report being rendered by the secretary. It was voted to discontinue the American Philatelist as a monthly and to continue it as an annual report of the convention, the official matter being published monthly in the Philatelic Journal of America and also reprinted in circular form for the members. This action was rendered necessary on account of the state of the finances. Very little business was transacted on account of the attractions of the World's Fair. The stamp exhibit was held in the building erected by the United States Government and attracted much attention from collectors and outsiders. The result of the election was the choice of J. K. Tiffany as President, H. E. Deats Vice-President, Alvah Davison Secretary, N. W. Chandler Treasurer, and E. Doeblin International Secretary. The Trustees elected declined to serve, and a special election held later resulted in the choice of C. P. Krauth, G. W. Rode and Ignatz Stauffer of Pittsburg. It was voted to again meet at Niagara Falls.

The Ninth Convention met at the Cataract House and was called to order August 21, 1894. There were 28 members present with 200 represented by proxy. The report of Secretary Davison showed a total mmbership of 770—307 new members having been added during the year. This was "high water mark" and the talk of 1000 members seemed likely to be realized ere long. In order to simplify the collection of dues it was voted to have the amount of the dues as well as the one dollar for the stock deposited with the application.

A resolution advocating the use of the American flag on some one of the future stamps of the United States was passed. The same officers were re-elected with the exception that Alvah Davison was promoted to Vice-President in place of Mr. Deats and William C. Stone was chosen Secretary in his place. For the first time in its history the entire Official Board was present at the convention. It was voted to hold the next convention at Clayton, N. Y., in the Thousand Islands.

In May 1895 the first official move against the practice of sending unsolicited selections of stamps on approval was taken by the issuance of a notice by the Secretary requesting dealers to discontinue the practice.

Owing to the suspension of the Philatelic Journal of America with the June issue the official journalship was transferred to Mekeel's Weekly Stamp News.

There were 43 members present at the Tenth Convention which assembled at Clayton, N. Y., August 13, 1895, with 620 represented by proxy. Party spirit ran high and while harmony prevailed at the end it looked bad at times for the future of the association, so bitter was the contest. A strong effort was made to defeat President Tiffany for re-election, but he was again chosen as leader. C. W. Kissenger of Pennsylvania was elected Secretary to succeed William C. Stone, who was in turn chosen as International Secretary in place of "Papa" Doeblin who was ineligible under the clause requiring the Directors to be from diffeent states. The Committee on Credentials had the most strenuous session in the history of the association, so heavy was the vote and so complex its counting owing to cumulative voting. The message of the President was so severe in its criticisms of certain members that it provoked a long discussion and it was finally voted to omit its publication in the convention report and official journal. As it was already in type, however, the printer struck off a number of copies which those who are fortunate enough to possess treasure as souvenirs of the Clayton conflict. Secetary Stone reported that the long looked for goal of 1000 members had been passed, the membership standing at 1009, with 12 shares of stock owned by branches, making a total of 1021. A total of 314 new members was reported for the past year, the largest but one in its history. The Sales Department reported over $10,000 worth of sales of stamps through the department while the Purchasing Agent had supplied members with new issues to the value of over $3,000. Charles H. Mekeel gave a very interesting account of the recent find at Louisville of a large number of the St. Louis stamps, exhibiting many of the stamps which he had with him. Charles P. Krauth gave an address on "Mechanical Appliances for the Stamp Collector" which was illustrated by numerous devices, many of his own invention. An important amendment to the By-Laws was adopted consolidating the Trustees with the Board of Directors and making that body consist of nine members, six of whom were to be chosen from as many different States. The Superintendent of Sales was included among the above as one of the Directors.

The Clayton convention marks one era in the history of the Association which is well worthy of a special note. While it was true that at a few of the previous conventions members had been accompanied by their wives, no especial effort had been made to cater to the strictly social side of the convention and thus make it an object to the members to bring their better halves and thus combine pleasure with business. The feminine elemnt was very much in evidence at Clayton, and through the efforts of C. P. Krauth a most excellent porgram of entertainment was provided, which was so much enjoyed by all that it has become a decided fixture with our conventions.

The selection of the next convention seat was left to a committee which at a later date announced the choice of Lake Minnetonka, Minn. For the first time since the organization meeting President Tiffany was not on hand to call the meeting to order, being detained at home by ill health. Treasurer Chandler called the meeting to order at the Lafayette Hotel, Lake Minnetonka, on August 11, 1896 and H. G. Smith of Minneapolis was selected as the Chairman of the Convention. There was a personal attendance of 34 members with a proxy vote of 674. High water mark was again reported by the Secretary, the membership being 1046, new members to the number of 260 having been admitted during the year. The annual dues were increased to $1.80 owing to the need of increased funds in the treasury. This was generally understood to be only a temporary measure however. Provisos requiring representation from seven States on the Board of Directors and that the Vice-Presidents must reside within a common radius of thirty miles were the principal changes made in the By-Laws. Boston was selected as the next convention seat. The election resulted in the choice of an almost entirely new Board of Directors as follows:—

President, Frank F. Olney of Rhode Island.

Vice-Presidents, W. C. Van Derlip of Massachusetts, John L. Kilbon of Massachusetts, George L. Toppan of Massachusetts.

Secretary, Joe F. Beard of Iowa.

Treasurer, N. W. Chandler of Illinois.

Assistant Secretary, H. B. Phillips of California.

International Secretary, E. Doeblin of Pennsylvania.
Supt. of Sales, etc., G. D. Mekeel of Missouri.

President Tiffany, whose long service as our presiding officer came to an end with this convention, did not long survive the expiration of his term of office. He had been in ill health for some time and passed away March 3, 1897, regretted by all. It is to his diplomatic hand that the Association owes its existence, for it is a secret known to but few how many critical periods in our history were safely passed by owing to the skill of the pilot.

Review.

We have received from Victor Marsh, Esq., of London, a member of the A. P. S., a copy of his Price List No. 8 of Philatelic Literature, handsomely printed in a limited edition of 200 copies up deckle edge laid paper, with a plate of twenty collotype illustrations. It is interleaved for annotations, and is an excellent guide for the philatelic bibliophile, as Mr. Marsh's stock of literature is very extensive. The list includes papers in English and in foreign languages, special works on various countries, annuals, auction catalogues, dealers' catalogues, handbooks, price-lists, etc., etc. The lists are unpriced, but Mr. Marsh's terms will be found moderate. An edition upon blue paper is supplied gratis; the above described edition can be obtained for 2/6. Address Victor Marsh, 389 Brixton Road, London, S. W.

Herr Paul Kohl, of Chemintz, Germany, sends us three booklets, which are in reality priced catalogues, entitled "The Stamps of Kashmir," "The Postal Issues of Abyssinia," and "The Proofs, Specimen Stamps and Essays of the United States." The first is a fully illustrated pamphlet of 26 pages, which includes cuts of a number of strips as well as plates of the stamps of Jammu and Kashmir. With its assistance the collector ought easily to identify his stamps of these two Indian States, which are not so difficult after one knows where to look for the distinguishing features.

The Abyssinian pamphlet contains 15 pages of catalogue, descriptive matter and illustrations based upon a specialized collection of the country in the possession of the firm. This seems to be very complete and well annotated, and the illustrations of the various issues with their surcharges are excellent.

The booklet of United States "Specimen" stamps, proofs and essays cntains 36 pages of illustrations and information valuable to any American collector. This work is also based upon a large collection owned by the firm, and as it illustrates some 50 essays for U. S. stamps as well as the issued stamps, and is fully priced, it is something which is absolutely lacking (and of necessity) in our American publications. Such interesting essays as some of the small numeral 1869 issue, and the 30c "Surrender of Burgoyne" are illustrated. It is stated that the work does not aim at completeness, but is intended more to arouse an interest among collectors in these beautiful engravings.

Our Uncle As Banker

By L. P.

The postal savings system in Boston is three months old. In this period the youngster, after the manner of youngsters, has had time to turn out rather differently than expected, though its parents, after the manner of parents, are quite as proud of results as of predictions. The system was expected to enroll principally a foreign population; it has drawn, as a matter of fact, quite as many of our native-born stock. The wickets whither come these depositors are a sectional panorama of the city's life. From them the Government's bankers may see and learn bits of character, traits of nationality, habits of thrift and the hard conditions under which the most of us earn and save, that are denied to the average experience. The place is a reviewing-stand of society.

Much of the money which comes in has obviously never been in a bank; it smells of musty chests; or it is a packet of bills in ones and twos, so soiled and evil-smelling and so tightly pressed that cooking, ironing and freezing could hardly make the lump more solid. Would hiding in a mattress so compress this paper? Some, when coming to deposit, whip rolls out of their stockings. And at the beginning of every month a routine cue of the same people forms at the window, to bring the full hundred for deposit allowable in the space of thirty days, seeming to show that the money has all been earned and saved long ago and never placed in a bank, though some, to be sure, come, bankbooks in hand, having just withdrawn it. The size of amounts brought has been surprising, considering the bringers, sums olf $1500 in a lump, and $15,000, by people apparently poor; representing, without doubt, the caution and possibly the sacrifice of half a lifetime. One hundred dollars is the maximum of deposit for one month, but at the end of five months these savings can be converted into bonds, the account discharged and a new one begun. By this method the Department is permitted to receive $1200 a year from one depositor. It may be mentioned that there is a general desire that this limit be raised.

The good repute of the system must travel from tongue to tongue in various trades and professions, from the definite groups which have sought the window. Motormen have come in numbers, railway telegraphers, girl stenographers, traveling salesmen, actors, office boys, plasterers, bricklayers, and, curiously, a squad of railway tower men. A labor leader asked for a block of posters to nail on the walls of the union rooms. There are those who have had their mournful experience of banks: "George W. Coleman has $500 of my money," says a sad-faced woman, "or he had." "That's my sister," explained a depositor of a woman who had just left the window. "She had had $1000 in a certain bank all her life, and not long ago lost every cent of it." A marine from the navy yard came, bringing his talents in a napkin, because, he said, he had lost a good deal awhile ago with a defaulting paymaster. The Department has chuckled over one dozen depositors who are known to be clerks in one of the largest banking houses in the city. It might have chuckled, too, had it been a chuckling matter, over the smallness of their deposits, for the process of self-justification by which a bank swings its enormous capital and follows a consistent policy of underpaying its employees has come curiously into the light of day at the Government's wicket. Another family joke of the window is a depositor who is a bank president himself, whether from motives of public spirit or private security, has not yet appeared.

Since the opening of the eight branch stations a month ago, traits of nationality have been sketchily traced among the depositors. Italians have swarmed to Hanover street, partly from their natural thrift, which is a by-word, and quite as much from sad experience of certain of their banking countymen. They were shy about going up to the main post office; but on their own Hanover street, to officials of their own race, communicating in their own tongue, and with the Government's stability behind, they have brought almost twice as much as the depositors at any other branch station, and have withdrawn proportionately less. They bring to the window usually large amounts—from $10 to $100, and once brought, unlike other classes of depositors, the money remains.

Rather to the surprise of the Department, the North Postal Office at North Station has been attracting numbers of Russian Jews, who seem to prefer the security profferd by the Government, to the higher rates of interest which could be obtained elsewhere. Station A, in the South Eend, and Back Bay, have summoned Scotch, Nova Scotian and Yankee groups of depositors from the lodging-house population living circumjacent, and, similarly, the window at Roxbury Crossing has drawn the Nova Scotians, Newfoundlanders and Scotch-Irish who have begun to claim that district. Lithuanians have been most of the depositors in South Boston. The station at Essex Street has attracted the Armenians and Greeks of the region, not so regular in deposits as others of the customers, but bringing larger initial amounts, often the full $100, to be followed with a monthly $10.

The human comedy enacts itself at these windows—and the human tragedy, too, did one but know. A teamster, half on a tipsy slant, reads a stammering lecture on the virtues of thrift—while he withdraws his savings to prolong his spree. It has been noted that the drinkers make ambitious deposits on Saturday, returning on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday to draw; and several clergymen, presumably for other ends, do precisely the same. The question of occupation is embarrassing. "My occupation?" says a girl, prodigiously hatted, "I'm ashamed to tell you." "You might put it in general terms," said the clerk, who was modest. "Well, I'm a shirt-waist maker," was the awful revelation, "but won't you please say I'm a stenographer?" "I'll tell you my age," stipulates a woman in the dangerous years, "if you'll promise that it will be a secret between you and me." "I will promise, ma'am," says the clerk, "never to tell any of your friends," which, as he knows none of them nor ever will, is not rash. Most of them, no matter how reluctant, do, as the clerk conservatively reports, "come out with something." Its exact scientific value seems to be in doubt with him. But one citizeness of the republic, after answering all the other questions, raised resentful eyebrows at the age clause: "The Government is too inquisitive," quoth she, and passed on.

Most of the native American depositors are from the immediate East, and many, even, of the foreign-named give Boston as their birthplace. The State of Maine keeps recruiting our population from its farms and small towns, and the up-country part of Massachusetts does the same. The English are regular customers if they are only permitted to explain how much better their own system is than ours; the Irish depositors are chiefly, so far, old people, pavers, flagmen, watchmen, and so on, who have probably never before given their money to any institution.

The unique value, as also the peculiar interest of the postal savings system has proved to be that it encourages thrift and saving among people who would never dream of going into a savings bank. Some are too sensitive: "Would you take a deposit as small as a dollar?" Bless you; yes. That is the whole idea of the thing. Others have had their ill-luck with banks of one sort or another, or have known those who have, and prefer the woolen stocking, or the loose brick in the hearth. But the Government will pay; the Government (whatever its faults) is honest. And there is an impersonal relation in our transactions at the post office which we cannot feel at a bank. Everybody has bought stamps. No one need be in awe of the man at the stamp window. Why should we be in awe of the man at the savings window?

Office boys bring their extra pennies; scrub-women bring their pathetic fifty cents or dollar. They are not anxious about rates of interest, but this money came too hard to enjoy losing. Here (as they know) it will be safe. "I never saved a dollar until this thing started," more than one depositor has testified, adding, "What would be the use?" Whether the implied reproach on the banks is undeserved or not, these people are witnesses to the need of postal savings. It is already plain that the system is performing a public service hitherto incompletely discharged, if at all; and that it is, moreover, teaching constructive lessons of thrift as wholesome as they are needed by the people of this nation.

So much for postal savings, the legality, the wisdom, the constitutionality, and the dignity of which were so patriotically doubted by gentlemen of finance. Now, how about a parcels post?

The Fourth Philatelic Congress of Great Britain

May 1st, 2nd, 3d and 4th, 1912.

To be held at Margate under the auspices of The Isle of Thanet Philatelic Society.

Three successful Philatelic Congresses have been held in Great Britain, and the program for the fourth has just reached us as we go to press. We feel that it is different enough from our own Convention program, and of enough interest in itself to warrant reproducing in its main features for the information and possible benefit of our own members and perhaps officers.

At last year's Congress in Birmingham the question of holding it triennially was taken up, but the sentiment proved almost unanimous in favor of annual gatherings, and four such have already been planned for. It is of course understood by American collectors that in Great Britain there is no national society, and that these Congresses are held by delegates appointed from the various philatelic societies of the kingdom. The forthcoming one is to be under the patronage of the Earl of Crawford, President of the Royal Philatelic Society, Hon. Herbert Samuel, Postmaster General, Hon. Sidney Buxton, Ex-Postmaster General, Sir J. Henniker Heaton, the Penny Postage Advocate, the Mayor of Margate, M. P. Castle, Esq., Vice-President of the Royal Philatelic Society, and others; while the Executive Committee includes the names of such well known philatelists as A. Leon Adutt, President of the Isle of Thanet Philatelic Society, Franz Reichenheim, Fred J. Melville, Percy C. Bishop and D. B. Armstrong.
